COUNT THAT DAY LOST, WHOSE Everyone who has had business at the California Central or California Southern Railroad offices in this city in the last eight months, knows H. L. McCauley, the chief months, knows H. L. McCauley, the chief clerk. A young man of about 30 years, of fine physique, handsome face and pleasant address, he made hosts of friends. Very bright and attentive to business, he won the confidence of his employers, and was on the high road to promotion. In society he was equally a favorite. A few only were aware that he had recently been divorced from a wrife who is supposed to be at present in San Francisco. He was engaged to a very estimable and beautiful young lady here; and the world seemed to be very pleasantly fixed for him. FOR SALE-BY URMY & SEARS, 4 S.

with an inmate of a fashionable brothel; and when he became engaged and discarded her, she pursued him with her infatuation. She even stopped on the street one day betore the pure girl to whom he was engaged, and told her of the meretricious relation. McCauley was called to account by his fiancée, but explained the matter plausibly and the difficulty was smoothed over.

He seems to have fallen to gambling. At all events, a comfortable salary was insufficient for his wants. He was intrusted with the collection of rents for the California Central—which sub-lets a considerable part of its room. These rents were paid over in the form of checks payable to the California Central Railway Company. Within the last six weeks McCauley has been endorsing these checks himself, and drawing the money. In this way he gathered in over $1000, which he failed to turn over. It is believed the banks will have to stand this loss, as he had no authority to indorse the checks and they cape the each of the checks and they cape the each shocker in checks and they cape the each shocker in the checks and they cape to each shocker in checks and they cape to each shocker was they cape to each shocker in checks and they cape to each shocker. slow, which he tailed to turn over. It is loss, as he had no authority to indorse the checks, and they none to cash checks indorsed by an unauthorized person. Mc-Cauley also got some money by making persons prepay freight charges.

Last Wednesday he left the office and went to Sania Monica. He passed the night at the Hotel Arcadia; and since he left there on Thursday morning, all trace of him has been lost. It is supposed he has gone to Mexico, as it is known he took two blank California Central passes. An attempt will be made to capture him.

McCauley came here from San Francisco about last December, and has been at work in the railroad office almost ever since. He leaves numerous creditors around town, not to mention a large number of friends who will be genuinely sorry to hear of a bright young man's downfall. $1000-"NOB HILL" LOT; COMocean and all lands intervening, the Sierra Madra

Terrible Collison of a Wagon and a

FOR SALE—DESIRABLE RESIDENCE Street Car.
At about 6 o'clock last evening, as one of the Main street and Agricultural Park line of street cars was passing the corner of Fifth street, going south, a heavy lumber wagon. FOR SALE—BY J. C. MACCABE, 14
Law Building, Temple st.
Two beautiful building lots on Brooklyn Heights,
State of the Sale of t drawn by an immense draft team, came tearing down Fifth street, wild with fright and entirely beyond the control of the driver. Before a word could be spoken, and simultaneous with a warning shout from the few horror-stricken bystanders who hapened to be in the vicinity at the time, the wagon, catching the end dashboardsof the car, drove its pole through the crowd of Main st.

car, drove its pole through the crowd of passengers who were standing or sitting there, knocking them in every direction.

For a moment it seemed impossible that such an accident could happen without fatal results, and the spectators dreaded to run to the assistance of those who had been thrown on the ground for fear of meeting the never-to-be-forgotten sight of mutilated humanity. The rear platform of the car had been crowded with workmen on their way home after their day's work, and when the pole of the wagon was driven with such terrific force into the center of the crowd, it was nothing short of a miracle that none were killed outright. was nothing short of a miracle that none were killed outright.

Luckily Dr. L. E. Cohn was on the car at the time of the accident, and was the first to recover his presence of mind and call for assistance in handling the wounded. In response to his call, a number of men who had by this time arrived on the ground, assisted by the occupants of the car that had escaped unhurt, divided into two parties, and while one party took charge of the hurt and removed them to the neighboring houses, another party released the runaways from their entanglement with the rear of the car, and, after taking the name of the owner and driver of the team, allowed them to go on their way.

and, after taking the hame or the owner and driver of the team. allowed them to go on their way.

It was not until the excitement had partially cooled down that anything intelligible could be learned concerning the condition of those who had been so violently hurled from the ear. It was then found that F. S. Wilson, residing on Orange avenue, had received a severe blow in the side from the neck-toke of the runaways, which fractured a rib and inflicted severe bruises on other parts of his body. Dr. Cohn managed to set the rib before inflamation set in, and thinks that with a rest for a few days the sufferer will be all right again. Another man, residing on South Main street, received a severe cut over his eyes, but was not so badly hurt but what he managed, after drinking a glass of ice water, to get home without assistance. Miss Fisher, was found to be suffering from heart trouble, which, with the shock caused by the accident, had induced her to have a fainting fit, leading to the runnor that she had received serious injuries. Miss Fisher was taken into a house on Fifth street, and, after a rest and a little attention, was soon able to go to her home, although in an exhausted condition from the effect of the fright.

The runaway team which was the cause of the accident, belongs to J. H. Ellerly, residing at 454 San Fedro street, and was driven by a man named Harvey, who claimed that his team had been scared on the corner of Fort and Fifth streets, and, getting the bits between their teeth, had got entirely beyond his control almost from the moment of their fright. $600-JUST STOP AND LOOK AT tract tractions only a few lots in this beautiful tract froming on drama st., clean side of at., only a few lots from Ellis tract, and is surrounded by the finest inprovements and residences. on a charge of having threatened to shoot L.Levy, the proprietor of the Telegram, and L. H. Hawkins, his ex-partner, who is now champloning Sarah Jane's cause. Both Levy and Hawkins took oath that they were arraid of their lives at the hands of Capt. Brock. The threat is alleged to have been made on the 19th inst., and Capt. Hawkins wanted Capt. Brock bound over to keep the peace at once. Levy swore that he heard Brock, say, on the 19th inst., that he would shoot Hawkins the first opportunity. He further stated in hearing of the witness that he would get a pistol for that purpose. On these statements a warrant was issued for Capt. Brock's arrest and placed in the hands of Deputy Constable Fred. Smith, who went out and served it. Capt. Brock was taken before Justice Austin at 4:30 o'clock and put on the witness stand. He made the following sworn statement regarding Levy's affidavit:

"I wish to say that the deposition herein made by Louis Levy is an outrageous lie; that he has perjured himself; that I never made the statemente attributed to me by him. I did say that I had been informed that Hawkins had offered Miss Warren a pistol to blow my brains out, but that was all I said about killing any one. I heard that three different times."

Capt. Brock was then given until this morning to raise bonds in the sum of $200, and the case was set for Saturday, September 3d, at 10 o'clock am.

Capt. Brock is still working on his numerous libel suits, and will probably get under headway today.

He made good his escape, and the constable had to content himself with turning only one man over to the County Jail.

A New Complication in Capt. Brock's

Case.

The Alvan D. Brock matter is still before the public, and from appearances it will not be settled for some time to come. Complaints and cross-complaints and rumors of blood-curdling shooting-scrapes were flying around at a frightful rate yesterday. Miss Sarah Jane Warren, the main actress in this drama, appeared in Justice Austin's court yesterday morning to answer the charge of using a cate'onine-tails on Capt. Brock. She pleaded not guilty, demanded a jury trial, and had her case set for the 2d of September.

She had hardly been disposed of when Capt. Brock was before the same tribunal

Says He was Sick.

B. F. Deputy United States Marshal Hayes returned with him yesterday, and he was immediately taken before United States Commissioner Dyke and asked to explain why he had jumped his bail. He said he was very sick on the day his examination should have taken place and he had no means of notifying his Honor. His examination was reset for next Thursday with bail fixed at $250.

They Were Fooled.

Fred and Harry Schmidt got it into their heads last evening that Main street, near the Postoffice, was made for their exclusive use. They placed their buggy and team in such a position that other teams could hardly pass, and when Officer Jeffries asked them to move on, they wanted to wipe the sidewalk up with him. It took several officers to arrest them and conduct them to the police station, where they were required to put up bail for their appearance today at 10 o'clock a.m.

REALLY BEGUN.

THE PAVING OF THE STREETS

Hundred Workmen Start In on Main Street, Whose Chuckholes will Give Place to Smooth and id Bituminous Lime Rock

Early yesterday morning the first furrow was made on Main street toward the paving of that thoroughfare with the bituminous e rock. There was on the ground a force en men and twenty horses, while in the yards of the contractors, preparing the conprete for the foundation, there was the balance of the 100 men advertised for to ence on the work, also twenty-five cams and wagons to be used in hauling the rial from the yard to the place where it the gutter, and to this plow were hitched five span of horses and mules, whose united strength it took to turn up the dry and hardpacked roadbed. Heavy as was the immense plow used, it was not until the five men who were attending to the work here threw their weight upon it that it could be forced into the ground to the depth required.

When the side of the street has been plowed to the depth of six inches scrapers will be put to work to remove another inch and a half, when the street will be ready for the immense steam roller mentioned in these columns a few days since. The pressure given to the roadbed by this glant these columns a few days since. table before the concrete foundation is commenced.

After observing the operations on the ground for a short time, a Times reporter went to the office of the contractors, Messrs. Dobinson & Fairchild, and was there introduced to Mr. Fairchild, who has the active superintendency of the work. Mr. Fairchild explained the nature of the material they are about to use on the work and the manner of its preparation.

"Is this bituminous lime rock you are to use similar to that from Neufchatel, used in paving Oxford street, London?"

"A!l experts who have examined it say that the only appreciable difference is that sur material has, rather coarser sand in its composition than that from Neufchatel," and Mr. Fairchild.

mid Mr. Fairchild.

"What is the best record known from the use of the Neufchatel bituminous rock?"

"In Oxford street, London, which you referred to a moment ago, it was laid under the most adverse circumstances, and yet, although that street is one of the heaviest traveled in London, it held its own for over four years without a patch. Other pavements, notably the granile blocks and the Ricolson pavement, although laid on thoroughfares where the test was not nearly so severe, were a continual source of annoyance from the frequency of the street blockades while needed repairs were effected."

"Have there been any recent improvements in the manner of laying this pavement that will add to its strength?"

"Yes, sir. Where it was formerly the custom foo lay the concrete on a bed of sand, and only put on three inches of the concrete proper, it is now proved that to give the best of satisfaction the concrete is laid on the roadbed which has been previously packed with a heavy steam; roller like ours. On this solid foundation the concrete, composed of finely-broken rock, is laid to the depth of six inches, and then on this again one and one-half inches of the bituminous rock is evenly spread."

"Is the coarseness of the sand in the bitumen you are using considered an

"Is the coarseness of the sand in the bitumen you are using considered an advantage over the Neufchatel, or otherwise?"

"The only objection made to the Neufchatel rock was that it was so smooth that in wet or damp weather the horses would slip on it and so cause a number of accidents. The coarseness of the sand in our material will prevent this, as in any weather there will be a good foothold for rese. 100 you apprehend any difficulty in pushigthe work ahead to completion."

10 this question Mr. Fairchild smiled, and fally answered: "Well, since you have ked the question I will answer it. We feel that the gas and water companies are not done what is right in, relation to als paving business. Here, for the last month at least, they have know that we were going ahead with the work, but instead of getting all the connections made that they intended to make, they have driven the matter off until the last moment, and when we went to the corner of Fifth and Main to commence work this morning we found that the gas company had set men to work digging a large trench across the road. It is true that the street superintendent stopped them, but there are other instances which will militate largely against the speedy advancement of our work. For instance, this morning while plowing from Third to Fifth, the two blocks which we propose to complete first, the plow collided with several gas and water pipes, breaking them short off. Now, as the plow is only cutting a six-inch furrow, it is plain that these pipes were so near the surface of the road as be barely covered. Then again, both these companies are anxious to put in all the connections they think they will be likely to need, for if they have to cut the street after we have finished they will have no trouble in filling up the road after their work, leaving this for us to do. We make no complain that this work was not taken in hand earlier and completed before we wanted to commence our work."

"What part of the work are the street-car companies responsible tor?"

"They have to care the street-car companies responsible tor?"

in hand earlier and completed before we wanted to commence our work."

"What part of the work are the street-car companies responsible for?"

"They have to pay for the space between their tracks and two feef on either side. This will leave a narrow strip one foot wide in the middle of the street for the city to pay for."

Mr. Fairchild went on to say that the work would be prosecuted with all the energy of which he is capable, and that he had but little doubt that it would be completed in good season. While they would have the right to entirely blockade the streets they were working on, he thought there would be no need for such action, as they would take one side of the street at a time, and thus throw the traffic to the other side, where it would not interfere with the work.

An Obstructionist. Yesterday afternoon, about 3 o'clock, as the Pico-street electric car was making a trip toward the boundary line of the city, it was compelled to wait in the center of Los Angeles street nearly fifteen minutes, blocking all traffic, by a driver of a wagon be-longing to J. Bloeser, the mattress maker. It seems that the driver had been sent with It seems that the driver had been sent with the wagon to bring another wagon from the blacksmith's shop where it had been undergoing some repairs, and aithough he saw the car coming and had plenty of room to turn his team out of the way, he refused to do 'so, but leisurely tied the pole of one wagon to the rear axle of the other before he would allow the car to pass. The conductor of the car took his name, and if there is an ordinance covering this offense, will have him arrested.

The Future Harbor of Southern California.

THIS IS THE OCEAN TERMINUS OF THE CALIFORNIA CENTRAL RAILROAD, OF THE ATCHIson, Topeka and Santa Fé system, who are under contract to lay five miles of sidetracks at this point by July 10, 1887—the shortest railroad line between the Atlantic and Pacific Oceans. PORT BALLONA is situated on Santa Monica Bay, only thirty minutes' ride by rail from the City of Los Angeles, with trains to begin running every three hours in the day early in July. Property can be purchased now at a much lower figure than when railroads and steamships are brought together. PORT BALLONA has two main avenues, one 100 feet and one 80 feet wide, with all other streets 60 feet. Residence lots are 50x150, and business lots 25x100 and 25x150 feet. The residence property is at an elevation of from 50 to 75 feet above tide-water, thus affording a most magnificent view, extending from Point Duma to the San Jacinto Mountains, and from the San Bernardino Mountains to Santa Catalina Island, in the Blue Pacific, and with a Beach unsurpassed on the Coast.

The Beautiful Lake of Ballona

Is one of the greatest features of the place, affording, at all times, a perfectly safe and pleasant place for Sailing and Boating of all kinds, and teeming with Fish and Water Fowl. There is also a never-failing Spring of Pure Sulphur Water, and both sulphur and salt water bath-houses are already in course of construction.

Water will be delivered in iron pipes in front of each lot under good pressure.

Lots are now on sale, and maps and all other information can be obtained from The Ballona Harbor and Improvement Company, Room 6, Office M. L. WICKS, Cor. Court and Main Streets.

ELYSIAN PARK.

City Atorney Daly presented the following opinion on the Soldiers' Home petition:

"Gentlemen—Appreciating, as I do, the watchful interest manifested by the Board of Trade for the welfare of your city, their continual exertion in our behalf, and particularly their patient efforts since February last to secure to us the location of the branch Soldiers' Home, I regret keenly, as I know many of you will, that there is an impedient to acquiescense in their desire; that you offer to the committee about to visit our city in September the land known as the Elysian Park tract, and for the following reasons: First—The power to purchase and hold real property for public parties is expressly given to the corporation by Article II, Section 2, of the charter of the city. In the exercise of this power the Council of the city, at its meeting of March 30, 1886, by Ordinance No. 218, ordainea: Section 1—That the real property located in the city of Los Angeles and owned by the city of Los Angeles and owned by the city of Los Angeles, hereinafter described, is hereby set apart for the public as a public park and is forever dedicated to the public as such park . . . all of the land owned by the city of Los Angeles in blocks 41, 42, 43, 44, 45, 46, 47, Hancock survey; also all the lands belonging to the city of Los Angeles in the tract of land known as the Abila tract, approved April 5, 1886, published April 7, 1886. The dedication is then complete, the corporation being the owner, the use a proper one, and the power being expressly given, and I know of no implied or incidental authority to alienate or extinguish such a public use when once made." Resolutions establishing grade and improving portions of Pacheco street, Tenth street, West California street, aweila street. The Board of Education presented the following protest:

To the Honorable Council of the City of Los Angeles—Gentlement: Learning that the proposed location of the new quarters for the Chinese is in the near neighborhood of our schools on Alameda street, and realizing that to the public schools has been largely committed by popular sentiment the conservation of the morals and correct principles of the children and youth therein gathered, we, the members of the Board of Education, to whom has been committed the watch and guard of our city schools, do most earnestly protest against this movement. We submit that the presence of this obnoxious class in the near neighborhood of these large and crowded schools will greatly hinder all efforts to educate these children into good citizenship, by thus familiarizing them from their most tender years with degradation and vice.

RAMIREZ.

New Townsite Near Fulton Wells— Extensive Improvements.

Persons who have had opportunities to note the advantages of certain localities in Southern California over others in the important consideration of climate, cannot but wonder why so many new settlers who come to the Pacific Coast in search of the best climate they can find, often pass by the most favored spots of this country, to locate in others. This fact must undoubtedly be attributed to the capricious whims of the others. This fact must undoubtedly be attributed to the capricious whims of the boom. Even here, in this favored latitude, there are some localities from which the heat drives people to the seashore or watering places during the summer months; while the more equable temperature of other sections permits its inhabitants to enjoy life the year round, without being compelled to make a periodical pligrimage for recuperation. To those who repair to this slope, as many do, on account of its genial climate, it cannot but be a matter of the greatest importance to know where they can find the best quality of this high-priced luxury, which some claim is sold with a piece of land thrown in. That section of country along the foothills, from Ranchito eastward, in the central portion of Los Nietos township, and immediately east the new town of Whitter (commonly known as the Quaker Colony) is beyond a doubt one of the best localities in Southern California in which to enjoy life. The climate of Fulton Wells, more recently known as the Iron Sulphur Springs (which property has recently been purchased by a syndicate of Santa Fé railroad people), is well known to thousands from every State in the Union, to say nothing of the people of Southern California who have visited these springs. A thermometrical record kept here has established the fact that in summer the weather is from twelve to fifteen degrees cooler, and in winter several degrees warmer, than it is in Los Angeles or any of the surrounding towns. This valley, protected as it is on the north by the foothills, is particularly favored in winter, and being open to the ocean, about fifteen miles distant, enjoys a soft sea-breeze that tempers the heat, as shown by the record just mentioned. In this district, adjoining the foothills, lies the TOWN SITE OF RAMIREZ,

a splendid body of nearly 2000 acres of land, recently purchased by a syndicate composed of Hon. John P. Sanborn, a prominent capitalist of Port Huron, Mich., who for twenty years filled the position of Collector of Customs of the Port of Huron; Simon J. Murphy, the millionaire lumberman of Detrolt; Mrs. M. D. and Fred D. Sanborn, and Hon. N. E. Thomas, also of Port Huron, Mich.
Ramirez is situated about fourteen miles from Los Angeles, in a southeasterly direction, on the county road leading from Los Angeles in a southeasterly direction, on the county road leading from Los Angeles to Santa Ana, and lies upon a beautiful mesa sloping to the southwest, five miles from Norwalk, and three miles from the Santa Fé Springs (formerly known as Fulton Wells or Iron Sulphur Springs) and just east of Whittier, or the Quaker Colony. The Ramirez tract extends from the Santa Ana beach to and up into the sloping foothills, a distance of upwards of two miles, and east and west a distance of two and one-half miles. It is divided into townsite and acreage property. The acreage property surrounds the townsite on three sides, and is subdivided into blocks, which are subdivided into looks the beautiful valleys of the San Gabriel and Santa Ana Rivers, with the ocean and the city of Los Angeles in the distance. The that stretches out on the south, east and west, from any point of this property is a perfect panorama. The proprietors of this property have reserved eight lots for four church sites, and two lots for school houses. A ten-acre park has also been laid out, around which the business lots are grouped. Natural springs, which yield a considerable flow of mountain water, will be developed, and will furnish water for the whole tract. An idea of the quality of the soil of this property can be had from the statement that it grows as fine vines as can be found without irrigation, and that wine from these grapes brought $1 a gallon when other wine soil for 20 cents. A variety of other fruit trees are also to be seen on this tract. Vast improvements are going on in the way of grading streets and avenues, one of which,

Stay made the splendid score of 203, being eight points higher than has ever been made by any marksman in the Department. To propperly understand the excellence of this shooting, it must be borne in mind that it is done on the run, at distances between 200 and 600 yards, in this instance twenty halts being allowed in advancing and retiring between those distances and fifteen seconds permitted for firing after adjustment of sights, for which purpose only six seconds are allowed after each halt. The firing is done at figure targets, one representing a man lying down, one kneeling and one standing. The value of the hits on these targets is five, four and three respectively, the highest possible score being 400. It will be seen therefore that this distinguished marksman has made more than fifty per cent, of that number. The score, when taking into consideration the difficulties attending such practice, is a remarkable one.

The letter of Gen. Rosecrans on the Grand Army of the Republic brings to the front again the question of whether a majority of the Union soldiers were Democrats or Republicans. We agree with the Chicago Inter-Ocean in claiming with confidence that the majority of the men who volunteered from strong Republican States were Republicans, and that a fair proportion of those from Democratic States were Democrats. But during the war the Democrats who favored the war drifted away from the Democrats who opposed the war and joined the Republican party, while the others made up what was known as the Democratic party.

This was the party of Vallandingham and of McClellan, and it is known how the soldiers voted on the Democratic issues of that day. In the Ohio election of 1863, which occurred while the country was depressed by the defeat of Rosecrans at Chickamauga, the Ohio soldiers in the field cast 41,467 votes It would be well to leave out us feature.

for Brough, the Republican candidate for Governor, and 2288 for Vallandingham, the Democratic candidate. When the result was known in the camps of the Army of the Cumberland the soldiers cheered as one man. There were no Vallandingham Democrats in the army commanded by Gen. Rosecrans, and rumor had it that if the army had not been defeated at Chickamauga, Rosecrans would have been brought forward as a candidate for Vice-President, on the ticket with Lincoln, as square-toed a Republican as ever lived.

In the Presidential election of 1864 eleven States permitted their soldiers in the field to vote, and the political preference of the soldiers were pretty clearly indicated. McClellan was a great favorite with the soldiers, and he carried more than the strength of his party. In the Army of the Potomac a great many Republican soldiers voted for Certainly he was as strong a candidate as the Democratic party could have put forward to capture the

The full benefit of her new railroa facilities will not of course be felt until the line is completed, securing Santa Barbara an all-rail outlet up and down the coast, thus giving her transcon-tinental connections. This will come in good time. The Southern Pacific will push its undertaking; it cannot, in fact, afford to delay the work.

Some heavy work will be encountered west of Santa Barbara, along the sea slope, and in the Gaviota Pass, a narrow clift in the Sierra Santa Ynez, through which the road must pass. It is, in fact, the only pass in the range between the River San Buenaventura and Point Conception, a distance of sixty miles. When this remarkable rift in the mountain range shall have been put behind him, the iron horse will leave the sea slope and penetrate the interior, pushing his way through northern Santa Barbara and San Luis Obispo counties, and so on to a connec tion with the main Southern Pacific line in Monterey county. The enterprise is a good one for the

A hot voice from Southern Ohio, speaking through the Portsmouth (O.) Blade, gives utterance to the above wail, and illustrates the atmosphere in that region by the following descrip-

The past six weeks will go down in history as a period of remarkable weather which, as a whole, has not been surpassed in this latitude, and it may be hoped never will be. A period during which the occasional fall of the thermometer into the eighties was welcomed as a grateful relief: when the only change from the fierce sun by day and the sweltering atmosphere by night has been but momentary, as it were; when the average of the thermometer has been higher than for fifteen years, while the humidity which felt like a Russian bath was never equaled, have given suffering humanity an experience that it will not be desirous of repeating. We look back on it all and bid good-by to the past with little grief, and bracing against a good strong sunbeam for the present, we look forward to the remainder of dog days with the contident hope that it can be no worse than its predecessors, and may possibly be better.

This is the story from all parts of the East; and no wonder those who can get

East: and no wonder those who can get away are flocking to Southern California, where there are no sunstrokes, no cyclones and no sultry, enervating Pacific weather in summer, and no icy gales or dreary snow-storms in winter. Every night here this summer it has been pleasant to sleep under blankets, and during the hottest days a refreshing sea breeze made the temperature in the shade delightful.

An English surgeon claims to have discovered the cause of clergymen's sore throat. No other speakers are affected in this way, and he has come to the conclusion that the malady is induced by speaking down to a congregation from an elevated pulpit, thereby depressing the vocal organs and causing irritation and congestion. A religious authority, the Living Church, thinks that if clergymen would hold the head erect and speak up they would never have throat trouble, and even if already suffering to some extent they may cure themselves by speaking in a right position. There are bad habits of phonation, breathing, etc., which a good teacher can easily correct, but the bending forward of the head and hanging over the sermon while reading it is worst of all, and any man can cor rect himself in it. We commend the reform to the gentlemen of the pulpit.

By Telegraph to The Times.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 22.—[By the Associated Press.] An important decision was rendered today in the United States Circuit Court which settles the title of thousands of acres of railroad lands in Los Angeles and San Bernardino counties. On June 8, 1885, J. D. Redding, attorney for the Southern Pacific Railroad brought suit to eject Ed-ward Poole and H. P. S. Davis from railroad lands situated in the above named counties. The land had been patented from the Government and was valued at $15,000. It formed part of a grant made by Congress on March 3, 1871. The grant extended from Tehachepi to Ft. Yuma, 320 miles, and con sisted of every odd section for twenty miles on either side of the track. The defend-ants claimed that the railroad was incapable of receiving title at that time, and therefore under the terms of the grant forfeited the land. The question involved was whether the railroad was or was not capable of receiving the land at that time.

Judge Sawyer, in overruling the demurrer of defendants, establishes the title of the railroad to the land. The United States Land Department authorities have decided against the railroads and have given patents to settlers. The railroad can now by this decision proceed against the settlers and force them to leave or pay for their ground. Judge Sawyer gave the defendants until October 22d to answer, and unless they can prove a claim prior to that of the railroad or that their land is on a Spanish grant, they must surrender it to the railroads. fore under the terms of the grant forfeited

The Central Pacific Company Grinding Out Affidavits.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 22.—[By the Associated Press.] The taking of depositions to complete the defense of the Central Pacific Railway Commission, was begun today at the offices of the company. A. A. Cohen, counsel for the company, began with E. Hilliller, secretary of the Central Pacific, and will in turn take the testimony of all officials, and compile such figures as they may present. Whenever a witness is of all officials, and compile such figures as they may present. Whenever a witness is found who has not appeared before, the Commission he will be sworn before the United States Commissioner of this district. The proceedings are ex parte, Cohen visiting each witness with a stenographer. The declared object is to establish: First, that the Central Pacific Company, up to the present time, has compiled with all its obligations to the Government; and second, that in settling with the company for the bonds granted in 1865–86, the Government should be exceedingly liberal, as the road is not able to meet its indebtedness.

Vexations Litigation Over Titles— The Settlers Much Incensed. Tombsrönze (Ariz.), Aug. 22.—[By the Associated Press.] The property-owners on the Mountain Maid mining claim, embracing a valuable portion of Tombstone, were recently sued in ejetment by G. G. Berry, who claims title under a United States patent. At the time the application was made for a patent a protest was entered by the settlers on the ground that no mineral was ever found on the claims. Upon representation of the owners of the claim that if a patent were obtained no claim would be made for the surface ground, the protest was withdrawn. There is much excitement and indignation here. SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 22.—[By the Associated Press.] The city and county of San Francisco has commenced suit against Adrew J. Itsell, the German Savings Society, French Savings Bank and about 300 individual defendants to recover property held by defendants, but which is claimed by the municipal authorities as a public square. The suit is in the form of ejectment, alleging that prior to December, 883, and for many years prior thereto, the nunicipality was the owner in fee simple of the property and that defendants had un-lawfully taken possession of it. The an-swer of defendants was that there was no cause of action. The litigation is important and if the city should win, it will restore property valued at present at nearly $500,000 to the municipality, but at the same time will deprive several hundred people of their homes, which they bought in good faith and under ordinances of the Board of Supervisors. The case will be tried on Thursday next. A CONFERENCE ON FARES.

The trouble i precipitated by the failure of the Eastern and Western Associations to make uniform rates. Some of the road and Western Associations to make uniform rates. Some of the roads have made round trip prices of a single ticket from the point of departure to St. Louis; others are making lower rates, and by the time the procession is ready to move there will be a slashing and cutting on all lines.

From another source of information it is learned that the Western States' Passenger Association a short time ago decided to make a rate to the reunion of the Grand Army of one and one-half cents per mile. The Central Trafic Association then decided to make a rate of one cent per mile. The Wabash Railway is a member of both the Western States' Passenger Association, and when the matter of difference in rates was brought to the attention of Receiver McNulta, he came to the conclusion that it would not be fair to make a 1½-cent rate over one part of his road and a 1-cent rate over another part, so he instructed General Passenger Agent Mow to make a rate of 1 cent per mile to the reunion over all portions of the road. This will probably compel all western roads to reduce their rates to 1 cent per mile, and some of them may do even still better.

And Demonstrate the Address of the Addres

"That Cleveland's Administration is a bitter disappointment to the managers of the Democratic party of Virginia, is attested by the loud and deep complaints. The National Democratic platform upon which Cleveland was elected, promised the repeal of the internal revenue system, but pledges the party to a continuance of the internal revenue taxes and their application to the payment of pensions. Every message of President Cleveland has ignored any suggestion of arepeal of the internal revenue system. The Democratic majority of the Forty-nint Congress speaking in accordance with the views of President Cleveland, has given unmistakable responses on behalf of the Democratic party. The address refers to an adverse report upon the bill to reduce internal revenue taxes submitted by Mr. Morrison, chairman of the Committee on Ways and Means, July 10, 1886, and to adverse report upon the resolution, repealing taxes on tobacco, submitted on the same date by W. C. P. Breckenridge of Kentneky, another leader and representative of the Democratic majority. The later record of the Democratic majority. The later record of the Democratic majority. The later record of the Pension of the internal revenue systems is that the Democratic party now in power upon the repeal of the internal revenue systems is that the Democratic party for ten years, excepting the Forty-seventh Congress, controlled the House of Representatives and failed t. act. p. m. the subject, and that it was by th. Forty-seventh Congress, controlled that a repeal of that system may be now accomplished by the Democratic party. The promise of this repeal was made in 1882, and in 1884 by several Democratic candidates for Congress, but thelpeople would not be deceived. It now remains to be tested whether the same hollow pretext can be used in this election by the Democratic candidates for Congress, but thelpeople would not be deceived. It now remains to be tested whether the same hollow pretext can be used in this election by the Democratic band with any more success than BROKEN PROMISES. "We declare that at the moment the Reblican party lost control of the Govern-nt, it was proposed to act upon the subment, it was proposed to act upon the subject of the repeal of certain taxes that President Arthur had urged, and to repeal the tobacco tax, and the Democratic House, with a Republican Senate, ready and anxious to reduce taxes, declined to proceed; that the Republican party is now practically united in favor of the repeal of the tax on tobacco and fruit distilations, and frestored to power will remove the burden which these domestic products have so long endured. We assert that the Democratic party in Congress is opposed to a repeal of the international revenue system as shown by the declarations of its leaders from President Cleveland down. We appeal to you to support the Republican candidates for the Legislature, and not to waste your votes on candidates whose faction, favoring a repeal of these taxes, is in hopeless minorty in the National party.

INCOMPETENT AND UNFAITHFUL.

INCOMPETENT AND UNFAITHFUL.

The platform of the Roanoke Convention especting tariffs as arraigned is misleading especting tariffs as arraigned is misleading and seeking to deceive the people upon a uestion vital to their interests. The adress arraigns the Democracy for incompence and unfaithfulness, which caused a aliure of the act of the Republican Legisature for the equitable adjustment of the lively Santa Paula Graphic, is in the city, feeling better after the shake-up at the recent train smash-

"The Republican party" it says, "will heerfully unite in every effort to pension laabled soldiers and their widows."

"The Republicans have always been faithul to the agricultural interests of the State, nd we remind the people that Secretary fanning recommended the repeal of the ariff on wheat, corn, and other farm pronets, and that tea and coffee should be xed as luxuries. As. Mr. Cleveland adorsed this, and the Democratic party adorses Cleveland, we ask the farmers to onsider what this Democratic friendship is worth. We feel the Republican party, those proudest motto is the 'Dignity of merican labor and the protection of Ameran Industries,' : needs no vapid assevertion of friendship for the laboring man."

WHERE HAS THE MONEY GOME? WHERE HAS THE MONEY GONE?

WHERE HAS THE MONEY GONE?
The address arraigns Gov. Lee for his any shortcomings, and touches upon the mances by asking what became of $1,500,-12 which was in the treasury in 1883, when he Democrats re-entered the capital, and that has been done with the taxes since ollected, amounting to over $10,000,000, and thy there is now so little money in the easury, with yet an accumulation of overal and paid interest in the same period creasing the State debt $4,500,000. The sople have a right to know why the nual cost of administration of the Government has increased from $302,000 to 1,250,000.

The Engine and Three Cars Derailed Two Passenger - Coaches Turned Over-Several Passengers Hurt-All Have Wonderful Escapes.

On last Sunday afternoon about 3 o'clock, the regular passenger train from Santa Bar-bara, bound for this city, was wrecked at a point fifteen miles north of Newhall. The train consisted of six passenger coaches, in-cluding a Pullman sleeper, besides the smoking and express cars. The cause of the accident was the spreading of the rails as the locomotive was making a curve. wending around the foothills in a bend of the Santa Clara River. The embankment is about twenty-five feet high, and as the loco-motive reached a culvert at about the center of the curve, the force or speed of the train was sufficient to separate the rails, throwing the engine and coal tender off the track. the engine and coal tender off the track. After a few revolutions on the ties, a gentleman in the fourth passenger coach pulled the bell-rope, and simultaneously the airbrakes were put on, and the engine was stopped within a distance of about 100 yards—being derailed at the brink of the embankment. Had it gon a twenty feet further it would have undoubtedly rolled over and perhaps set fire to the train. The baggage and express cars, immediately behind the tender, rolled down the embankment, turning over on the side. Wells-Fargo's agent, named White, the baggage-man and his wife, were in the express car. The bagrage-man and his wife, were in the express car. The bagrage-man and his wife, were in the express car. The bagrage-man and his wife out, and the express-man escaped out of the door of the upturned car into a deep cut in the embankment, and came out of the tunnel about twenty feet distant, neither of the three being injured. L. I. Baaen, recently from London, was in the smoker, and as it turned he caught a frightened passenger who was attempting to jump out of the window. The man fell back upon Baaen, who lost his hold upon a seat, and was thrown violently against the side of the car, the stove falling upon him, but the force of the stove struck against a seat, and Baaen escaped with only a bad cut over the left eye and a few bruises. C. M. Bradford, of New York, who is visiting his brother at Pasadena, was in the first passenger coach, and was thrown against the opposite seat, and then from one side to the other as the coach turned, inflicting painful wounds and perhaps internal injects. Dr. Harkness, who attended him, thought his right ribs were slightly fractured.

C. C. Sweet, of Michigan, who was in the same coach was wounded in the left shoulder, his hurts being perhaps the most serious of all. R. P. Waite, of East Los Angeles, a nephew to Mr. Berry, of the Herald, ustained a slight cut over the forehead; and Mr. Berry, of the Herald, was slightly bruised in the small of the back by being thrown against the side of the car.

The first passenger coach was tipped over at an angle of 45°, with the front wheels off the track facing down the embankment, and the rear wheels switched around across the track in the opposite direction. The second passenger coach was careened at an angle of about 30°, the other two remaining coaches having been merely derailed. The entire six cars pursued an ugly zigzag line, with the smoker and baggage cars lying flat on their sides down the embankment. Those in the reclining and Pullman coaches scarcely knew of the danger until it was over.

Pullman coaches scarcely knew of the danger until it was over.

There were about 150 passengers on the train, and, considering the confusion and great danger, the escape from greater injury and loss of life may be considered as marvelous. About half an hour after the accident a freight train with men and implements came up, and work was begun in clearing the rails from the track. And in a few moments the San Francisco excursion train from Santa Barbara came up, when medical aid was furnished, and those who were not too excited to eat were refreshed with dinner.

The wires were tapped, and at about 7 o'clock two coaches were sent up from Newhall, there not being a single coach at the Los Angeles depot. At 11 o'clock the two coaches, filled with passengers, were ordered to Sangas station, there to transfer the passengers to a special train which had been ordered from Los Angeles depred to the passengers to a special train which had been ordered from Los Angeles depred to the passengers to a special train which had been ordered from Los Angeles depred to the passengers to a special train which had been ordered from Los Angeles depred to the passengers to a special train which had been ordered from Los Angeles depred to the passengers to a special train which had been ordered from Los Angeles depred to the passengers to a special train which had been ordered from Los Angeles depred to the passengers to a special train which had been ordered from Los Angeles depred to the passengers to a special train which had been ordered from Los Angeles depred to the passengers to a special train which had been ordered from Los Angeles depred to the passengers to a special train which had been ordered from Los Angeles depred to the passengers to a special train which had been ordered from Los Angeles depred to the passengers to a special train the content of the passengers to a special train the ordered to Sangas station, there to transfer the passengers to a special train which had been ordered from Los Angeles, with instructions to leave them there am return for the remaining passengers, baggage, express matter, etc. But, on arriving at Sangas, the special had not arrived, and the passengers refused to get out of the car, so they were carried three miles further to Newhall, where they met the Los Angeles special, and were at once whirled into Los Angeles, leaving the remaining passengers at the wreck until 4 o'clock in the morning—huddled together on a sandy track enjoying the chilling preezes from the cactus fields of the bed of the Santa Clara. Had the special been detained at Newhall a half-hour longer the remaining passengers would have been brought down, and all arrived at Los Angeles at 3 o'clock in the morning instead of two hours later. This sudder charge of brought down, and all arrived at Los Angeles at 3 o'clock in the morning instead of five hours later. This sudden change ot orders, to pacify the impatient passengers who were on comfortable cars at Newhall, was unjust, to say the least, to those who were left at the wreck in the cold, especially after being told that the train would immediately return for them.

It was two hours after the accident before a message reached Los Angeles.

INCIDENTS OF THE ACCIDENT.

In addition to those mentioned, there several passengers from this city none others were injured. Among those on the train were Mrs. J. Marion Brooks and two children, Mrs. Sam Nicholson, of Sam Francisco, guest of Mrs. Brooks, and J. M. Scanland, editor of the Santa Paula Granhic.

Graphic.

About fifteen minutes before the accident a lady remarked to a gentleman: "Are we not going rather fast?" He replied: "This is a solid track." Just as the wheels struck a tie another lady remarked to her escort: "What is that?" Not wishing to create alarm, he did not answer. She screamed: "We are off the track; where are my children?" and started for the door. Her escort placed his hand across the seat, barring the way, and with the other firmly held the excited lady until the cars were derailed and stopped, then led her to the door and assisted her off instantly, thinking perhaps the car was on fire. As the train was running at the rate of about twenty miles an hour when it first jumped the track, had any one been permitted to jump off fatal injuries would have doubtless resulted.

Five minutes after the wreek the amateur photographer who haunts excursion trains was "taking a sketch from life."

As soon as little Ethel Brooks received her hat, she remarked, with a touch of reproof: "Mamma, this is what happens to people who go anywhere on Sunday."

The ties on the track for fifty yards were Graphic.

proof: "Mamma, this is what happens to people who go anywhere on Sunday."
The ties on the track for fifty yards were split into fragments by the wheels, and furnished bonfires for the construction men.
The man who "felt it in his bones that something was going to happen," was numerous, and the stories that were told of experiences in railroad wrecks, would discount the tallest figh, stories on record.
The most disguisted passengers were the Chinamen, who had presence of mind enough to swear in English, saying:
"Lailroad heap, no dam good."

Among the notable passengers on the train were W. W. Morrow, of San Francisco; Dr. Harkness, of the San Francisco Academy of Sciences, John B. Stetson, Capt. Byrnes and Crittenden Thornton, of San Francisco.

Quite a sensation was caused around lice quarters yesterday afternoon, at e announcement that the nuch-sought-for rape-fiend had been arrested.

Officer Cates was told by some one that Officer Cates was told by some one that there was a man on Los Angeles street acting very suspiciously. Arriving where the man was, Cates found him somewhat under the influence of liquor. When asked his name he stated that his name was Gormiey. The officer of course thought that he had a "scoop," and took the man in. The man proved to the satisfaction of all that he resided in the country, was an honest farmer, and that his name was spelled Gormley, not Gormlee, as the flend spells his name. No marks were

Not a single transaction took place, but the brokers retired from 'Change satisfied that the initiatory step had been taken, and the market had bedrocked so easily. At the afternoon session 200 tons of Wheat changed hands, 100 tons of which was seller '87 at the British grain trade during the past week says:

The rainfall has checked the shipping and delivery of Wheat, and consequently has arrested the downward course of prices, although values in London and in some of the provincial markets, have continued in favor of buyers. Estimates leased in the Government statement as to the average of crops for 1887, place the new yield of Wheat at about 0,350,000 quarters for seed. Mrs. A. W. Worm,

Corner Oak and Ocean, Los Angeles,

o are Delighted with Its Progress and with the Conviction that the success of the Artificial Harbor is spired.

The completion of the California Central Rallway branch from this city to Port Ballona, and the progress of the great and important work at the harbor itself, lent special interest to the excursion given yesterday to 300 prominent citizens by the railroad and the Ballona Harbor and Improvement Company. At 10:30 a.m. about 300 invited guests, including the Board of Trade, City Council and leading men of the county in all lines of business, gathered at the Santa Fé depot and boarded the train of five fine coaches, under the charge of Constuctor J. E. McNeil.

tuctor J. E. McNell.

The Los Angeles and Santa Monica road, The Los Angeles and Santa Monica road, as it is called, runs through one of the most beautiful and fertile sections of Les Angeles the superb Nadeau vineyard, Inglewood and Port Baliona are already started. The road was in surprisingly good shape for one so new.

The party reached Ballona shortly after moon, and crossed the lake on a pontoon bridge of floating spiles. Here Hon. H. T. Hazard made one of the most convincing arguments of his life. Some one said there was ten feet of water under the bridge. Hazard maintained that there was but four. His opponent was obdurate, and "Honest Harry" promptly proved his point by jomping in and allowing them to measure high-water mark on his manly form. He was right. It was only four feet. Arriving on the ridge of sandhills which separates the harbor from the sea, the party repaired to an impromptu pavilion, where J. Koster had spread a superb lunch. At the champagne stage of the banquet remarks were in order. Louis Mesmer was called up, and, in his earnest way, told how he had always maintained that a perfect artificial harbor could be made at Ballona; but never could get any one to listen to him or help in the project until he met James Campbell, a veteran engineer, now president of the Ballona Harbor and Improvement Company. Mr. Campbell had at once seen the possibilities of the place, and labored intelligently and tirelessly to work out its manifest destiny. Mr. Mesmer had done his part in liberal donations of land.

President Campbell was called and modestly disclaimed an undue share of the moor of engineering the great enterprise, while thanking the guests for the honor they had done him, whatever credit was to be given should be awarded to the Ballona ilarbor and improvement Company as a corporation. Its members are gentlemen of enterprise, energy, integrity and wealth, and they will carry the enterprise to a successful consummation. President Campoell then proposed the health of Gov. Stoneman, who spoke in very complimentary terms of the work.

Brig.-Gen. Nelson A. Miles, Commander of this Department, was enthusiastic over the harbor. He said he was convinced that it was an assured success. I vices to the public. He was inclined to think that when Balloun Harbor is completed, our Government will establish a nilitary post there.

Further remarks, appreciative of the progress made and congratulatory to the company, were made by Eugene Germain, President of the Board of Trade; J. D. Jynch, of the Herald, and Peter Taylor.

After the feasting and the speech-making the guests devoted themselves to closer inspection of the work already done and that in prospect. The topography of the harbor and what is intended to be done there have already been fully described in these columns. The quarter of a million dollars which the company has already expended nakes an impressive showing in work done. A channel 200 feet wide has been cut through a range of sand-nills from the lake to the ocean. The action of the tides has scoured every particle of sand out of this channel, and swept it out to sea, so that at high tide there is nine feet of water in the channel, with a bottom of clay hardpan. Along both sides of this channel forty-foot spiles have been driven for a distance of about 400 feet. These are bolted and bulkheaded, and wharves have been built on them. This double line of wharf will be carried 800 feet to sea. One big pile driver is at work on it all the time. Another is driving on a similar bulkhead around the southern curve of the harbor inside. The huge steam dredger La Ballona, which cost 48,000, and is the biggest on the coast, is moved inside the harbor, a few hundred feet south of the channel, and is hard at work. Its huge auger, ten feet in diameter, is eternally gnawing away at the bottom, eating out 5000 cubic yards of earth a day. This earth, in solution, is carried out through a twenty-inch discharge pipe, which turns it loose far out at sea. Later this discharge pipe will be carried ashore, and will full up depressions and make land wherever wanted. The guests were all greatly interested in this mammoth machine and impressed by its efficiency and vast power. Now that the railroad is completed, f ill on the Second-street cable road in the ricinity of Hope street 30,000 cubic yards of earth was moved, the task occupying a large force of teams and scrapers for months. For the Bailona dredger 30,000 cubic yards is but six days' work.

The railroad to Port Bailona will begin running regular trains—two each way daily—about September 1st.

The guests were unanimous in their expressions of gratification at the completion of the railroad and the substantial progress making in the creation of a great harbor—an enterprise which is, by common consent, one of the most important in its bearing on the county's weilfare that was ever undertaken. As nearly as could be learned, inspection left no sceptics as to the success of the undertaking.

The return trip was made without special incident, the party reaching this city at 4 p.m., delighted with what they had seen, and with the courteous treatment given them by the company.

SANTA BARBARA, Aug. 20, 1887.—
[Special correspondence of The Times.]
Santa Barbara opened her gates yesterday to the great outside world, and the world came in—came with the thunder of the iron horse, the rush of the long, heavy-laden train, the crowding throng of passengers, driving stlence forever from her streets, and filling them with the fresh, turbulent, active life that marks the new era of progress that life that marks the new era of progress that has come to Southern California. No more the Spanish don or senor shall sit dreaming beneath their vine and fig-tree, or in the cool shadow of adobe walls under the roof of broad verandah; or the patient donkey cool shadow of adobe walls under the roof of broad verandah; or the patient donkey bear his burden through quiet streets, or the spirited bronco drag the heavy stage through the mountain passes, for the fiery locomotive has set the very air to pulsing, and today Santa Barbara is alert, full of life, and, turning the cold shoulder to romance, is giving her attention to the subdivision of ranches, the sale of corner lots and real-estate business in general.

The old past has faded and the life of today is throbbing in her veins. Her streets are bright with electric lights, the world shouts to her through the telephone and sends its messages over her wires, and comes sweeping with a cyclone of revolution along the iron ralls that girdle her.

At 3:55 on Friday afternoon Santa Barbara welcomed her first passenger train, which consisted of a locomotive and tender, one baggage-car, six day coaches and two sleepers, bringing altogether about three hundred passengers. Santa Barbara was out en masse to receive it. It was a triumphant spectacle. Years of patient waiting and anxious working were ended, and the oncoming train was watched by a vast crowd of people who had gathered upon the principal business streets to wait its coming. On it came across the fair levels beside the sea, sweeping across a portion of the fleetest bronco, then touching the edge of the estero flats, rolling grandiy onward, and at last stretching its long length between church and cottage and blossoming gardens. Lo! the great steaming monster at its head halted where Guierrez and State streets intersect, and where the crowd had gathered to cheer it as the harbinger of progress and prospenty. This train brought passengers from San Diego, Los Angeles, Ventura and Carpintarin was heard, and again great crowds

Diego, Los Angeles, Ventura and Carpinteria.

At 5:45 the echo of another incoming train was heard, and again great crowds gathered to give it welcome. This was the excursion train from San Francisco, consisting of a kitchen car, a Denison dundgear, six Pullman sleepers and acar assigned to the Presidio Band.

In the evening Santa Barbara's first openair concert was given if the beautiful Arlington grounds, which were almost as bright as day in the brilliancy of the electric light. The rose-curtained porches about the hotel, and the green lawns, sweet with the perfume of a thousand blossoms, were soon filled with listening guests. It was a brilliant scene, and the programme rendered by the Presidio Band was delightful.

a magnificent banquet was also given at the Arlington to the distinguished guests. One hundred and two covers were laid, and the Arlington to the distinguished guests. One hundred and two covers were laid, and it was a banquet that would have done honor to old Rome in the days of her greatest luxury and splendor. The tables were arranged in the form of three sides of a hollow square, and flashed with the brilliancy of soild silverware, cut glass and costly china. Over all was the glow of the electric lamps, which every shining point of glass and the gleaming silver reflected. Not less attractive than all this costly glitter were the beautiful floral designs, so appropriate and suggestive of the events which the banquet commemorated. In the center of the main table, directly in front of the president, stood a floral representation of the Santa Barbara depot, with the name floating from the flagstaff. Through the depot ran a magnificent floral train of cars, consisting of a locomotive, tender and four passenger cars; the whole being over six feet long. In the center of the right side-table was the old steamer Orizaba in Santa Barbara's choicest flowers, flying the pennant of the Pacific Coast Steamship Company. The boat was over three feet long. On the corresponding table on the other side was a floral yacht representing the Santa Barbara Yacht Club, loaded with a cargo of Southern California fruits. At intervals along the table were distributed tropical and flowering plants, and hiding the door leading to the kitchen was a huge screen, formed of growing palms, bananas and tropical plants. The various courses were served by a corps of well-trained waiters, who worked at the sound of the bell.

It was nearly 10:30 o'clock when Judge Charles Fernald, who presided, called upon Rev. Dr. Barrows, of San Francisco, who said grace, after which the following bill of fare was discussed:

With the appropriate courses the following wines were served: Xeres, Haut Sauterne, Chambertin, Chateau in Rose, Grand Vin, Sec. and Liqueurs.
After the dessert had been disposed of a number of letters of regret were read, among which were letters from Gov. Bartlett, William B. Cooper, Gen. W. H. Dimond, Mayor Gregory of Sacramento, Leland Stanford and many other prominent gentlemen.

Stanford and many other prominent gentlemen.

The following toasts were then responded to: "Congressional Legislation for the Pacific Coast," by Hon. W. W. Morrow; "Transportation and Railway Enterprises," "Timothy Hopkins; "Commercial Interests," W. L. Merry; "Domestic Trade and Productions," President Sanderson of the San Francisco Board of Trade; "Immigration," A. R. Briggs; "Science and Arts on the Pacific Coast," Dr. Harkness; "Southern California," E. P. Roe; "The Future of Southern California," Edwards Koberts; "The Clergy as Popular Teachers," Rev. Dr. Barrows; "Our New Citizens," Judge R. B. Canfield; "Our Fruit Interests," Ellwood Cooper (by letter): "Suburban Settlements," Hon. E. B. Hall; "Santa Barbara," Judge E. H. Heacock; "What I Saw in Santa Barbara and My Work Here," W. N. Hawley.

It was a fitting close for the day which first saw Santa Barbara linked with the world of traffic, of commerce and quick transportation by means of iron bands which are to be her future highway of immigration.

Saturday, the day of the great jubilee, appeared to have been chartered for the occaare to be her future highway of immigration.

Saturday, the day of the great jubilee, appeared to have been chartered for the occasion. Nature herself was in a holiday mood. At 10 o'clock another special excursion of ten cars arrived, bringing about one thousand people from San Francisco, Los Angeles, and places along the way. Altogether it was estimated that there were six thousand strangers in the city—twice the usual population.

State street was handsomely decorated. The long lines of pillars supporting the awnings extending over the sidewalks were festooned with evergreens; flags were stretched across the streets and fluttered gally in the breeze; building fronts were draped in the national colors; and from every flagstaff, and from many a roof floated the stars and stripes, the emblem of rejoicing. Over all was a cloudless sky flooded with sunshine, and cooled by the delightful sea breeze. Long before the hour for the procession to move the homes of Santa Barbara were emptied into actiles: roofs were dotted thickly with ple, the wooden awnings were like busy let the wooden awnings were like busy let the source with the like of the like of rch was occupied by the eager and expect throng. All business was usispended, Santa Barbara gave herself to rejoicing, all the surrounding country, for twenty es around, had come in to jubilate with and all the surrounding country, for twenty miles around, had come in to jubilate with her.

The order of march was the same as published in Friday's Times. It was a superband imposing spectacle. One feature of great beauty was its array of school children. Eighty lovely girls, carrying bouquets of choice flowers, and dressed in white, made a lovely picture, while the same number of boys—the representative men of Santa Barbara's future—were boys of whom any city might well be proud.

The collation at Burton Mound was a grand success. Twenty-four tables had been spread in the tree-shaded grounds, at the base of which, on one hand, rolled the blue Pacific, and on the other lay the fair sun-gleaming city embowered in green, and fragrant with the breath of its mulitudinous gardens of flowers. Tempting viands of every kind were spread upon the board, luscious fruits of all descriptions which belong to this fruitful clime were supplied in prodigal abundance, and everything which is pleasant to the sight and good for food was provided in rich abundance.

As the procession reached the gates the guests dismounted from their carriages, and children showered flowers along the way which they passed.

Preceding the rich and beautiful collation was "a feast of reason and a flow of soul" that was delightful. Judge Heacock, President of the Day, called the assemblage to order, and the Presidio Band, as an introductory, played the "Red, White and Blue." A fitting address of welcome was then given by the President, reviewing the past of Santa Barbara, and the great work which was at length accomplished, which broke the isolation of a quarter of a century and opened the doors of Santa Barbara to the world.

After further music from the Presidio Rand Gen Vandever reservaled in fitting Rand Gen V

the isolation of a quarter of a century and opened the doors of Santa Barbara to the world.

After further music from the Presidio Band, Gen. Vandever responded in fitting words to the sentiment, "The Southern Pacific."

Hon. T. B. Bishop, of San Francisco, made an elegant response to the toast, "Our Distinguished Guests."

The next sentiment was to "The City of Santa Barbara," to which the Hon. C. A. Storke replied in stirring and magnetic style which thrilled the hearts of his audience. Hon. Russell Heath responded to the "Early Ploneers," and referred to his early arrival at Santa Barbara, and to those dim old slow-going days when the world was so far off, and to the dead pioneers who had hoped so much for this locality.

To the sentiment, "The Ladies," John P. Stearns responded in his happlest manner. It was a theme which always stirs him to eloquence, for his heart is in it. "The Past and the Present," called forth the Rev. Selah Brown, and the picture of contrast which he drew was the work of a master artist, and he was followed with the closest attention. Mr. Streeter, an old long-time resident of Santa Barbara, familiar with its adobe days and its burro transportation, was next introduced as one of the oldest pioneers and was greeted with three cheers and a tiger.

As he retired the invited guests were seated at the tables, and the sumptuous banquet was served.

This closed Santa Barbara's grand jubilee, a day long to be remembered, alike by her guests and her people. She no longer sits in quiet isolation at the gates of the Pacific, walled in by her mountains and dreaming by her sea, for through mountain passes and along the white sands of the beach the iron horse has thundered and the world has traversed her long line of shining rails and instinct with life, change and progress is here with its energizing forces to revolutionize and to push her on to grand advancement and prosperity.

acid which enters into the air by com-bustion, respiration, decay, and other-wise, is converted under the influence of sunlight-through the vegetable king-dom into organized carbon combina-tions—viz., into plants—and the liber-ated oxygen returns into the atmos-phere. As this change takes place on a large scale it is the chief condition of a constant composition of the atmos-pheric air. Thus the carbonic acid is prepared as food for the vegetable kingdom, and the aeric ocean serves as a storehouse, the stock of which by this unceasing exchange is kept at a cona storehouse, the stock of which by this unceasing exchange is kept at a constant level. Since our observations were recorded, which certainly is no longer than a few hundred years, the amount of carbonic acid in atmospheric air recognized almost unchanged. air remained almost unchanged.

But geology tells us that there has been an age in which the atmosphere was more saturated. In the early era the temperature of our planet, being like that of a hot-house, produced a gigantic flora which later on in its decline formed the large coal deposits on earth. The same carbonic acid which in immemorial times roared and stormed through the high calamities of the palezoic era, sunk as a petrified the palezoic era, sunk as a petrified vegetable organism into a long and death-like sleep, awaiting a new resurrection in our days. It is the miner who awakens it to a new life, which means a new chemical activity, and means a new chemical activity, and civilized mankind are busily engaged to restore it to the great circulation of nature. Thus the man of our century heats with the glow which was blazing down upon earth long before men were living or its numbers and it is this here. living on its surface, and it is this heat to which the present time owes the gigantic development by which it is characterized which unceasingly send forth into the aeric ocean the gaseous products of combustion—viz., carbonic acid.

The quantum of carbolic acid which human-kind at present produces by combustion, for either procreation of heat or energy, or light for electricity, is extraordinary or greatly enhanced in comparison to former times. This is done to such an extent that we may ask whether a reintroduction of carbon.

We may decidedly answer this question in the negative.

The amount of carbon which is negative.

The amount of carbon which is wrested from the interior of the earth by thousands of diligent hands, and by other thousands used for combustion, is so exceedingly small as to dwindle away if compared to the gigantic stock contained in our terrestrial atmosphere. The difference is so insignificant—not over 4-100 of 1 per cent—that it could not be determined by the most minute methods of investigation.

From these and similar considerations we learn modesty when we com-

From these and similar considerations we learn modesty when we compare human work to that of nature. Man's hand is too weak to interfere noticeably with the imposing mechanism of the cosmic gear. We work on a small scale and too slowly to disturb the equilibrium of the proportions ruling the earth. This, our smallness, must not affect or oppress us. In spite of it our time is great—the greatest in which human-kind has lived. We may indulge in comparisons like those we made, but an estimation of our works must be done according to human measure, for, we are simply men. *

AN ERA OF COMBUSTION.

INFLUENCE OF COAL COMBUSTION TION UPON ATMOSPHERE.

The Gigantic Development of the Age Due Largely to Heat—Man's Smallness Compared with Nature.

The following paper was read before the recent Mining Engineers' Convention at Dresden: A hundred years ago people were still in doubt whether atmospheric air is a mechanical mixture or a chemical combination of its chief elements—oxygen and nitrogen.

The trouble was to get the adipocere. The lotus water was made by distillation, as rosewater is now made, and was in as common use among the Egyptian women as rosewater is with the American. The following paper was read before the recent Mining Engineers' Convention at Dresden: A hundred years ago people were still in doubt whether atmospheric air is a mechanical mixture or a chemical combination of its chief elements—oxygen and nitrogen. The fact that the two gases could be so easily separated was in favor of its being a compound, whilst the extraordinary constancy of its proportional composition seemed to indicate a chemical combination. The interest in this problem ceased rapidly as soon as it was proven with certainty that oxygen and nitrogen of the atmosphere exist beside each other in a free state, and that the extraordinary and never-subsiding motion of the aeric ocean, which is produced by the influence of sunbeams, causes a constant and intimate mixture of its elements.

Later investigations proved that solar radience, besides this merely mechanical influence, exercises also a chemical, or rather a chemico physiological, influence to preserve the constancy of its mixture. It was further recognized at an early date that atmospheric air always and everywhere constancy of its mixture. It was further recognized at an early date that atmospheric air always and everywhere constains some carbonic acid. But its amount seemed to be too insignificant a share to be worth any attention; yet, how enormous is the absolute magnitude which this small proportion of carbon taking the great expanse of the atmosphere. This was notfully understood until man's horizon extended; until his perceptive faculty grew and his intellectual eye succeded in determining the weight of this our earth and its atmosphere. Then the imposing transmigration of carbon taking place in the atmosphere were recognized. It was stated that all carbonic acid which enters into the air by combustion, respiration, decay, and othered with the substitution and the chemically pure giver the constitutes, considering the great expanse of the atmosphere. This was not fully understood until man's horizon extended; until his perceptive faculty gre friends to experiment with, and they sound the former good and the latter excellent. He afterward made it from our rosewater and glycerine, and this was much better than either of the others. The proportions vary. To keep the skin soft, one-third glycerine to two-thirds of rosewater, and this was probably the proportions in the "bath of Isis," as its simbol was thus subdivided; but Liebig's experiments showed that half-and-half were about the proportions when bringing the skin into condition. Ten cents' worth lasts a month—5 cents' worth of the rosewater of commerce (made from four drops of rose oil to an ounce of distilled water) and 5 cents' worth of ordinary glycerine; but by using the genuine rosewater, made by distillation, and the chemically pure glycerine, obtained by a second refining—which cannot be had at every druggists—you will get a much better article than the "bath of Isis" ever was. This lotion was alluded to in the oldest book in the world, now in the National Library in Paris—I mean the one written by Prince Hotep, and taken from his coffin after it had lain beside him for over 5800 years. The reason why our women have such bad skins is because they are not cleanly. The Egyptians were the healthiest people ever known, and this was because they were the [cleanest. Linen was never worn the second time without washing. The Princesses bathed in diluted lotus water many times daily, and night and morning used the "bath of Isis." They had a regular day each week for medical treatment, and, with all Egyptian women, devoted three days in each month to medicines to keep clean the inside as well as the outside of their bodies, so that had there been no "bath of Isis." they would not have failed to have beautiful complexions. This "bath" merely gave their skin the satin touch and velvet softness. Their perfect health did the rest. No bath ever made will bleach the yellow face of a person suffering from jaundice, or remove the pimples that come from constitutional weakness and the breaking up of cellular cellular tissues. The Cheapest Lands in Pasadena.

The reservoir, to cost about $10,000, on the Raymond Improvement Company tract, in front of the Raymond Hotel, is being constructed, and it is having the effect of creating a boom in the lands surrounding that hotel. The Raymond Improvement Company has its first subdivision ready, and they offer the cheapest lots in Pasadena for sale. The lots are selling very fast. Smith & Jacobs, who are the shrewdest speculaters in Pasadena for the characteristic fields and the shrewdest speculaters in Pasadena for the characteristic fields are the shrewdest speculaters in Pasadena for the characteristic fields are the shrewdest speculaters in Pasadena for the shrewdest spec who are the shrewdest speculaters in Pasa-dena, purchased 115 lots in this tract at one time last week. They propose to build houses and mark up the lots to about double the company's present prices, and purchasers may look for a general marking up in a short time. Fair Oaks avenue is to be widened to an 80-foot street, and Smith & Jacobs intend to build a handsome business block. Four gigantic development by which it is characterized.

where large industries exist, and you will be astonished at the change in such a short space of time. It is almost a superabundance of force in which humankind indulges, since we have succeeded in unlocking the coal treasures underground, and made them subservient to our wants. Man, indeed, fully understood how to put the one hand he is not free from the reproach of profusion, yet on the other he must be credited for having lifted himself, with the help of the black bounty, to an intellectual height which never before was attained, not even in classical antiquity.

Our era is in the full sense of the word an era of combustion. Everywhere in places of industrial activity we see glowing hearths fed with fossil carbon; we meet with stationary, with

A horseman gives this advice through the columns of the Farm and Home:
Having taught the colt to walk triskly and fearlessly, to stop at the word "Whoa," and to start promptly at the command to "Get up," you may now teach him the next lesson—to trot. So far you will have occasion to use only the term "Get up," "Steady" and "Whoa." You now want the colt to trot. Use the "Chick" and start on a run and the colt will follow your example. If not, a whip may be carried in the left hand and the colt touched lightly on the hind legs, for while I deprecate the use of a whip as a means of punishment, it may be used as a help in educating a colt.

The best position, and in fact the only safe and proper position to take in leading a colt or a horse is in front of the left shoulder. You can then take the halter in the left hand, and placing the right hand on the "colt"s shoulder, you will find it a great help when the colt is moving on a sharp trot. In training the colt to trot it should be encouraged to increase its speed, but never allowed to break. If it breaks it you will mu it a great help when the colt is moving on a sharp trot. In training the colt to trot it should be encouraged to increase its speed, but never allowed to break. If it breaks it should be stopped and taken back and started over the same ground at a more moderate pace. All that is required now is to repeat the lessons and make no mistakes. Kindness and patience in the halter-training of a colt are of the utmost importance.

One more halter lesson is yet to be given, and a very important one, namely, to teach him to stand tied without pulling on the halter. See that the halter is strong in every part and that the ring or bar to which it is to be fastened cannot be pulled out or broken. In the case of a colt two or three years old it would be advisable to have, in addition to the halter, a strap around its neck, with a strong rope and fastened the right length to receive a portion of the strain. But this is not necessary with the colt we are now training.

Having adjusted the halter, lead the colt into the stall and made the halter fast and pass out quickly. The colt will naturally want to follow, and when he feels the restraint, will be likely to pull. If the floor is plank and a little slippery, so that he falls, all the better. Let him get up when he chooses to. He will not be likely to make the second trial. Leave him, but keep within hearing distance, and occasionally take a look to see that all is right. When he has become reconciled to his situation, pass quietly up to his head and give him a little feed. Do not leave him tied and go out of hearing distance, nor leave him tied at night until he is quite reconciled to his new condition.

Now you may tie him alongside of another horse in the team and drive them till he becomes accustomed to the sight and sound of the wagen. You

Now you may tie him alongside of another horse in the team and drive them till he becomes accustomed to the sight and sound of the wagon. You will also lead him up to objects that you want to get him accustomed to. Put a blanket on him quietly, handle his feet and get him accustomed to brush and curry-comb. A good time to do this is when he is a little warm and his skin itches, at the close of his lesson. His halter education is now finished, and if no mistakes have been made, a good foundation is laid for made, a good foundation is laid for future harness training.

The Destructive Power of Torpedoes

The Destructive Power of Torpedoes. [Iron.]

The destructive power of torpedoes was recently illustrated in the Resistance experiments; but no exact account of their actual has yet been published, as far as we know, of their use in action warfare. Although the destruction of the Chinese corvette Yang Wo during the fight between the French and the Chinese at Foochow has almost been forgotten, no authentic has almost been forgotten, no authentic report of the encounter has ever reached us. The account just given of the annihilation of the Chinese vessel reached us. The account just given of the annihilation of the Chinese vessel by a close eye witness is therefore doubly interesting. The writer says that the French flag-ship had two torpedo boats attached to her at the gangways. The ship was about 300 yards below the Yang Wo. As soon as the firing commenced, both boats attacked the Chinese vessel. The first one fired her torpedo directly under the Yang Wo's after gangway—starboard side. No damage whatever was done to the ship; but the officer in charge of the torpedo boat was wounded in the chest by the return action of the torpedo. The other had in the meantime attacked the ship forward, a little abaft the cathead, on the same side. This torpedo was in direct contact with the ship. The effect was that, when the torpedo exploded, it penetrated the fore magazine, or rather the fire from it did. This blew up, and the whole forward part of the ship was demolished. This all happened within three minutes. The remainder of the wreck drifted ashore, and burned for several days. The Yang Wo was a wooden corvette of fourteen guns. The torpedoes used were booms—contact ones. pedoes used were booms—contact ones.

The masterly inactivity maintained by the Government in regard to the (Eastern) fisheries matter must soon become an occasion of profound shame. Every step made seems to tend more and more toward national humiliation.

"Old Worsley was too smart a trader not to see that this was a grand chance for him, and he not only accepted the Colonel's offer but lived up to it nonestly, and made planty of money by it. At the first meeting with him I gave him an order for eight yards of gray corduroy, with all the necessary ouff and gold trimmings, buttons, lining, etc., for a nobby suit, also for a soft hat with gold cord and ostrich plume, also a pair of fine cavalry boots, and lastly, for the handsomest doll baby he could find in Baltimore. Col. Mosby ordered a sack of coffe and some other goods.

"Worsley went back loaded with orders, and in due time he came back with every order filled. He charged me with $4 a yard for the corduror, $10 for the hat, $15 for the boots, and $20 fer the doll baby, but he paid me $2 a pound for a big box of chewing tobacco. He not only filled orders for Mosby's men, but for citizens generally, buying any articles ordered. We looked upon him as a godsend, and never thought of being suspicious of him. We knew our man too well.

Finally, when he was found out by his employers, he informed no some Baltimore merchants who had sold him goods, knowing they were to go South, and had them arrested. This is the only thing we had against him. Col. Mosby never ried to catch him, for Worsley admitted very frankly who he was as soon as he heard Col. Mosby's favorable proposition. Nor did the Colonel ever set any handsome young lady to 'spy apon him,' and Worsley never led any nandsome young lady through swamps and by-roads for his Union passes, as Mosby's protection made travelling dong the main turnpike much handier. Mosby never put a pistol to Worsley's nead; never threatened to shoot him; never fought a duel with Gen. Lee's nephew about him, and never became his warm friend." his warm friend."

"HELL ON THE WABASH."

An Agent of the Road Tells How the Saying Originated. [San Francisco Examiner.]

Saying Originated.

"Hell on the Wabash." How this saying originated has puzzled the brain of many a railway official. Many have had their theories regarding it, but none have been positive of the correctness of heir opinions. When Jay Gould took the line in tow it was in a state of bank-uptcy, and it has been the belief that he saying arose from the road's misortunes. When anything extraordinary happened with any railroad, when a train was derailed, when two trains collided, or when a strike of any of the imployes occurred on any of the lines, railway men would give expression to heir feelings by the common saying: "There's hell on the Wabash," and this uotation has done duty as a headline or many a newspaper article. Yesterday E. H. Coffin, Ticket Agent of the Wabash Western, at St. Louis, arrived in the city, and a number of is friends here gathered in the Wabash ffice to talk over all times. In a short ime a discussion arose as to the origi-nation of the quotation, and several pinions were expressed.

Mr. Coffin said he knew how it came

"The story in late years." said Mr. Coffin, "has never been told correctly. It happened in this way: It was one night in the fall, many years since, that General Passenger Agent Townend, of the Wabsab—then of the Missouri Pacific—and myself were coming from Detroit to St. Louis. About 10 relock at night Mr. Townsend went not the smoking-room of the sleeper to take a night-cap. He filled the glass with spirits and was just raising it to ais mouth when there came a bump and a roll and the train was derailed, and the spirits were spilled from the class. As he had no more, Mr. Townend was sorely disappointed. This appened near Fort Wayne, Ind., and when he got to the station he teleappened near Fort Wayne, Ind., and when he got to the station he telegraphed to General Passenger Agent Chandler, of the road—now holding the same position with the Missouri Pacific—There's hell on the Wabash.' Mr. Shandler thought it so funny that he showed the dispatch to many of his riends, and in that way the saying circulated so extensively that it is now a common saying all over the country."

Ist. Louis Letter to New York Sun.]

Mr. John W. Manson, of this city, who was with Col. Mosby during the war, tells some interesting facts about Pardon Worsley, the Union spy of the Shenandoah, who died at Jamestown, N. Y., last. Wednesday. Mr. Munson said:

"I was riding with Col. Mosby one day in 1864 on a scouting trip when one of our men rode up and informed the Colonel that a Yankee peddler had just driven into Middleburg, Va., with a wagonload of goods. We met old worsley, as he told us his name was, a few bours after, sitting in his wagon with his wife by his side. Mosby asked alm a few questions and go very straightforward answers, and with no more delay said to him:

"'Now, Worsley, let's understand each other from the start. You are a Yankee spy sent up here to try to catch me or my men, but we have been catching sutlers too long to be caugh thy as poor a specimen as you. I want to thake use of you, and, as I intend you shall make money byit, I am not afraid to trust you. I want you to do the shopping for my command. We will grive you orders to fill in Baltimore and Washington and you bring us the goods and make your big profits on them and I will protect you. If any of my men harm you I will punish them.

"You can carry this on just as long as you choose, for you have only to report to your masters in Washington, after you return there from each tripafter me, that you have not quite caught me yet, but you hope to do so he next time. I'll give my men notice that they can begin making up their orders for you at once. Recollect, I don't object to your taking back all the information you choose, nor to your trying to catch me or the men. If it amuses you it don't hurt us. All I require of you for the protection I grant you fill our orders promptly. What do you say?

"Old Worsley was too smart a trader not to see that this was a grand chance to be a tripage of the campan, and the necessaries of the companies have taken to shoulting the high-priced Providencia land; only 85 per and the protection I grant

A Positive Proof That Cancer Can Be Cured.

Mr. A. R. Shands is a well-known farmer, whose residence is in Spartanburg, S. C. He is a man of means and education. His standing in his community is A 1 for truth and probity. While Mr. Shands refrains from using the word cancer, the facts he gives settles the question of the nature of his disease.

using the word cancer, the facts he gives settles the question of the nature of his disease. He says his physicians never said the sore was a cancer, but that they all warned him that there was great danger that it might turn into a cancer. At any rate none of them could afford Mr. Shands the slightest relief, and finally he was cured by S. S. S. the finest and only absolutely certain bloed purifier in the world. Below is Mr. Shands' own letter about his cure. Let any one suffering from a similar aliment write to Mr. Shands and learn from him the exact effects of the wonderful medicine that cured him.

SPARTANBURG, S. C., April 2, 1887.

GENTLEMEN: For twenty years I have had a sore on my left cheek. It had gradually been growing worse. The many physicians whom I had consulted were unable to do me any good. Last fall a year ago I began using S. S. S. At first it inflamed the sore and it became more virulent than ever; so much so, indeed, that my family insisted that I should leave off the medicine. I persisted in using the S. S. S. At the end of two months the sere was entirely healed. Thinking that the evil was out of my constitution, I left off the medicine; but in November, ten months after, a very slight breaking out appeared. I at once began again on S. S. S., and now that is also disappearing. I have every faith in S. S. S. It has done me more good than all the doctors and other medicines I ever took.

Your truly, A. R. SHANDS.
